PEX-c while being more rigid and cost effective than PEX-a it still has many of the same properties. The flexibility of the cross-link allows the pipe to be expanded to work with both F1960 and F2080. It can also be crimped using the F1807 and F2159 connection systems. The tubing also comes with an oxygen barrier to prevent oxygen permeability. This reduces corrosion and damage to heating components.
